Our most important holidays

The High Holy Days are a special time of year.

The High Holy Days are probably the most important and meaningful holidays that we observe during the Jewish year.

They include a wonderful lesson that we teach our children: Yes, we are human, and we make mistakes; but we can repent, say we are sorry and do better in the coming year.

The High Holy Days teach us that we have a responsibility to take action when we do something wrong, and we have a responsibility truly to think about what we have done and how we can do things differently in the future. The memories we create with children will last a lifetime.

I still remember walking to Temple with my family, sitting in the back and kibitzing with my girlfriends, and hearing the shofar sound. Those of you with children can create such memories with them.

Like most Jewish holidays, the High Holy Days include special foods and melodies to help us identify the significance of this time of year. We eat apples dipped in honey to wish each other a very sweet New Year. We eat a round challah to signify the cycle of the year and of life.

Yom Kippur is, of course, a time of fasting. Adults over the age of 13 are supposed to spend 24 hours focusing on their thoughts and prayers and asking for forgiveness. They do so without the usual pleasures of food and social life.

I want to point out that the preservation of life (Pikuach Nefesh) outweighs any other Jewish laws or customs. Most of Jewish law can and should be set aside in order to avoid endangering a person's health or safety. Therefore, if you need to eat or drink on Yom Kippur because of health reasons, please do so.

TUNES PASSED DOWN FROM MT. SINAI

On Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, we also sing the melodies that were sung as far back as the 11th century. This music is taken from what is called the Missinai tunes, tunes that are thought to have been passed down to Moses at Mt. Sinai.

The melodies originated from the 11th to the 14th centuries. They were compiled by a famous rabbi and chazan, Jacob Molin, in the 1400s. During a bleak period of Jewish history, Rabbi Molin strove to ensure that these melodies, and the integrity of the Jewish music and spirit, were not defeated by the destructive crusades and the devastation of the Jews throughout the middle ages.

These melodies have been, and are still, sung in synagogues throughout the world. They keep a sense of community and connectedness for our people, no matter where they may be during this important time of year.

Everyone looks forward to hearing the haunting and beautiful melody of Kol Nidre. Traditionally, this prayer is chanted three times to remind us of how we are repenting for our sins and shortcomings. Many prayers use these traditional melodies: the Barchu, the Shma and Mi Chamocha. Of course, we all love the singing of Avinu Malkeinu, when we ask God for forgiveness.

I made a CD of these traditional melodies many years back, and probably have a few left. If anyone wants to listen to the melodies before the High Holidays, please let me know.

We are now in the month of Elul, leading up to Rosh Hashanah, and we are supposed to take time for reflection and preparation for the High Holidays. We will be blowing the shofar every Friday night and saying Psalm 27, as is customary. The shofar blasts are meant to awaken one's spirits and to inspire one to begin the soul searching that prepares for the High Holy Days.

As part of this preparation, Elul is the time to begin the sometimes difficult process of granting and asking for forgiveness.

Here are some ways that you can prepare for your own personal teshuvah, your own path of return. You can simplify this for your children and make it a wonderful exercise that teaches them about the holiday, too.

1. Keep a journal and write things that you have not done ethically, kindly, etc. Also, put in some things that you did well.

2. Meditate on washing away the sins of the past year and starting a new slate. What would you like to do better this year? How can you help others more? How can you give of yourself to improve the world?

3. Teshuva means return, so return to doing good. Write down what you would like to do differently or better.

4. Repair broken ties and ask for forgiveness. If you have done something wrong, ask for forgiveness. If someone does not forgive you right away, you are required to ask forgiveness at least three times, according to Shulchan Aruch (606:1). If, after the third time, the person still will not forgive you, you are released from your obligation to ask for forgiveness, because you made an honest effort to say you're sorry. This is also our opportunity to ask the Creator for forgiveness for things not done against a fellow human being, and to ask our Creator's help in any changing of our ways.

We can also ask for things that we may need, and we can seek a way to express our certainty that what we need will come to us.

NEW LUNCH FORMAT, SITE FOR TASHLICH: It will be a pay-per-person catered Israeli-style lunch on Rosh Hashanah Day at Bethesda Park in Waukesha, where the Tashlich service will be held following the morning service. ## CEEW CLEAN-UP DAY

June 23, 2019

Volunteers spruce things up inside and outside Temple

By MARCY HOTZ
Administrator

Our synagogue tends to collect various items over time: religious items, furniture, decorations, artwork, books, electronics and much more.

No one wants to throw anything out in case we need it at some future time or for some future event. At some point, we have no room to store the things we need to store.

Our periodic clean-up days, coordinated by a few brave souls and performed by a multitude of volunteers, address not only the interior of the building, but also the outside plantings. These volunteers give their time and energy to do the work of sprucing up our surroundings so the Temple will reflect the holiness and cleanliness one would expect in a place of worship.

A ton of gratitude goes to workers Sara Anson with daughter Evelyn, Carrie Barbakoff, Tom and Spencer Braatz, Joe Dailey, Paula Duval, Elaine Goldberg, Kelly Goodman and his mom Peggy, Garth Halase, Marcy Hotz, Michael Kotkin, Mark and Cindy Levy with daughter Sharon, Ann and Alan Meyers, Adrian Richfield, Bernie Sandler, Phil Schuman, Loren Schmidt and daughter Molly, and Denise and Dennis Stodola.

Volunteers pitched in and did the following:

- Removed damaged religious books and articles for burial at OSRU;
- Trimmed bushes and weeded (some bushes must be removed);
- Sorted through items in the religious school's storage closet, discarded broken and unused items and reorganized the space;
- Cleaned up the door to the social hall and installed a bulletin board for oneg sign-ups;
- Took old electronics to Best Buy;

Cindy Levy and daughter Sharon organize books and curriculum from the religious school materials during CEEW Cleanup Day on June 23rd.

- Cleared out the safe room (yes, we have one), and found new homes for the items taking up that precious space;
- Disposed of excess hoses and other grounds and maintenance equipment;
- Cleaned the memorial board;
- Organized the lower level furnace room, and removed paper goods and other combustibles;
- Scrubbed the toilets;
- Moved heavy bags of salt from the janitorial closet to the coat room area where newer salt is stored and used for winter;
- Emptied the former classroom that became a dump for unneeded religious school items;
- Organized music CDs;
- Removed unused items from storage behind the bimah (south side) and reorganized maintenance area;
- Organized the gift shop and Sisterhood storage area from behind the bimah (north side);

B'NAI MITZVAH COORDINATOR SOUGHT: Cantor Martin is looking for someone to help our B'nai Mitzvah families so they have someone they can contact for the logistics of the service: 1. How to get the key; 2. Whom to call if they need to open the sanctuary wall; 3. Whom to contact about doing an oneg or doing a reception at CEEW.

CLEAN-UP

- Delivered unused items to Goodwill (several trips);
- Cleaned out the freezer and refrigerator.

A huge thanks also to Joe Dailey, Tom Braatz and Spencer Braatz for paying for pizzas and soda for lunch, and to the other volunteers who brought food to nourish our hard-working labor force.

Take a look around the building, outside and inside, and notice the difference.

The Clean-Up Day event was organized by Mark Levy, Carrie Barbakoff and Marcy Hotz.

CEEW launching its ENDOWMENT FUND

By ALAN MEYERS / Treasurer
and
LAURIE SCHWARTZ / Co-President

Congregation Emanu-El of Waukesha is excited to announce the launch of our endowment fund.

This fund, managed by the Milwaukee Jewish Federation, will help to ensure the financial health of CEEW for generations.

The foundation will handle all investments, donations, tax receipts, necessary accounting, tax filings and legal requirements.

The goal of the endowment is to reduce our reliance on dues and fees. There are rules in place about how the endowment funds can be used, and those rules serve to assure our donors how the money will be used.

A withdrawal of four percent of net income is allowed yearly. Additionally, there are provisions for capital campaigns and a one-time mortgage reduction loan. It takes a two-thirds vote of CEEW members to modify the rules.

Additional information will be available around the time of the High Holidays, and there will be an endowment kickoff event this fall.

If you would like more information prior to High Holidays, or if you wish to make a donation, please contact CEEW treasurer Alan Meyers.

You can make a donation now by writing a check to Milwaukee Jewish Federation, with the "CEEW Fund" indicated in the check's memo line or in an enclosed letter or note. Mail it to:

Conference was invigorating experience

I recently returned from Portland, Ore., where I attended the NewCAJE10 conference.

This conference reminded me of the importance of community, because all of the attendees were Jewish educators. Although all of us are educators from various communities throughout the U.S., we all have a common love of Judaism and developing life-long learners.

I am excited to be bringing back new ideas for our holiday programs, new curriculum materials and methods for mentoring our teaching staff. It was an invigorating experience that allowed me to network with my peers from across the country and learn from inspiring experts in the field.

September on the Gregorian calendar starts with Labor Day, which honors the labor movement and is dedicated to the social and economic achievements of American workers. It constitutes a yearly national tribute to the contributions workers have made to the strength, prosperity and well-being of our country.

In our community, we value the many contributions of the teachers, staff and parent volunteers. Their tireless efforts help this school and Temple run smoothly. We honor their commitment and their labor.

At the same time on the Jewish calendar is the month of Elul, spelled in Hebrew aleph, lamed, vav, lamed – which is an acronym for “Ani l’dodi v’dodi li,” a verse from Song of Songs that means “I am my beloved’s and my beloved is mine.” Most often interpreted as love poetry between two people, the phrase also reflects the love between God and the Jewish people, especially at this season, as we assess our actions and behaviors during the past year and hope for blessings in the coming year.

We as a Jewish community are lucky to have the secular new year and the Jewish new year as a time for new beginnings and a chance to reassess ourselves and the choices we make.

It is also the start of a new school year. Sept. 8th is the start of the new religious school year. I am very much looking forward to seeing our students and their families return from their summer away and welcoming our newest family to the school, the Ogdens.

At the beginning of the summer I had to say l’hitraot (see you soon) to Ilene Jauquet and Mari-Claire Zimmerman, who have chosen not to return this fall as teachers in the religious school.

We will miss their weekly presence in the school and hope to see them for special programs during the year. Both Ilene and Mari-Claire have been true assets to the school over their many years of dedication. Ilene has shared her love of cooking with her students, and Mari-Claire has shared her love of Torah and all of the holidays. At the time of writing this article, we had hired one new teacher and were in the process of selecting another teacher. Let’s all welcome them to our Temple and our school community.

As we enter the High Holy Days, may each of you renew your spirit for the coming year. I wish you a healthy, happy New Year of spiritual growth and learning.

MEET OUR NEW CO-PRESIDENT: LAURIE SCHWARTZ

Becoming involved is way of life for Laurie

By ADRIAN RICHFIELD
Bulletin Co-Editor

Laurie Schwartz doesn't just talk about stepping up and helping at CEEW, but actually puts her words into action.

Via a myriad of activities in her role at CEEW, she recently sat at the annual membership meeting and heard a "real" need in that the congregation needed a co-president to work with Ann Meyers for the upcoming year. More about that later.

Laurie grew up in Waukesha, and her parents, Rosetta and Dr. Aaron Sweed, joined the Temple in the 1950s and were very active members. She went to religious school here, was a confirmation student and went to the JCC summer camp regularly.

She attended Waukesha High School, Waukesha's only public high school at the time, where she was one of two Jewish students in a class of 700.

Laurie Schwartz

Following graduation, she attended the University of Denver, which was perfect because she loved to ski. She was a psychology and sociology student.

Following graduation, she became a buyer at Denver Dry Goods, managed a uniform store, worked at ATT designing large phone systems and worked in the upholstery business with her husband.

She also managed rental properties and kept their books as well. This led to her taking classes for tax preparation, and she became an enrolled agent for the IRS.

She is now retired and finds time for a lot of volunteer work, including being on the Health and Human Services Board of Waukesha County and helping prepare taxes for the underserved at La Casa in Waukesha.

Examples of

Laurie has a son, who is married and lives in Chicago, and a daughter, who is married with three children and lives in England where her husband is in the Air Force. She also has a brother, Bruce, who lives in Pittsburgh and is married with three sons.

After living in Denver for many years, Laurie moved back to Waukesha in 2016. She had helped take care of her parents in Waukesha for several years, and eventually decided it was time to come back home on a permanent basis.

She immediately became involved with CEEW. She has spent a year as a board member, has become instrumental in a number of fundraising efforts, including last year's very successful concert on which she and Cantor Martin worked very hard.

She also developed the Smile Fund Raiser through Amazon, the collection of used electronic equipment and the Scrip fundraiser. All of these contribute much needed monies to the Temple.

If you haven't signed up for Amazon Smile or the Scrip program, now is the time for all members to help with these fundraising efforts. Just ask Laurie for assistance in your participation. Both are very easy to sign up to do, and with no cost to the member, everyone can easily help with these efforts.

She loves to travel and is very excited about the upcoming trip to Israel with CEEW. It will be her first time visiting Israel. She also goes to England to see her daughter and grandchildren several times a year.

She has two little dogs, loves to read and sew. She has made her own clothes, curtains and pillows, and also does needlework. She makes many things for her grandchildren.

As to why she volunteered to be our co-president, Laurie said she heard a need that had to be filled and simply stepped up because that was what she felt she needed to do.

She is looking forward to working with Ann Meyers and learning how to manage the many things that are required for good leadership at our synagogue.

She feels especially strong about wanting to see a culture of kindness and acceptance and hopes that people will address issues they may have to the CEEW Board of Directors.

One thing you would never know or guess about our new co-president is that in middle school she competed on the Wisconsin State Rifle Team. She learned how to shoot at the Jewish summer camp she attended for many years. She became very good at it, so she joined the state team.

SELICHOT: 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21st

Service to be preceeded by movie, discussion

We will prepare for the High Holidays with a Selichot program and service on Saturday, Sept. 21st, at 6 p.m.

The evening at CEEW will begin with snacks (please bring something to share) and a movie, My Father, My Lord.

The film will be followed by a discussion about the importance of family, and of following the Commandments and rituals; finding meaning in the things we do religiously; and if and when we should question the things we do religiously.

Cantor Martin will have questions for us to ponder.

After the discussion, we'll have a Selichot (which means forgiveness) service.

Judge Dallet to speak at Sisterhood program on Oct. 22nd

Judge Rebecca Dallet will be Sisterhood's special guest speaker on Tuesday, Oct. 22nd.

Be on the lookout for the time and subject of the talk. Everyone is invited.

She was a state prosecutor for 11 years and a circuit court judge for 10 before running for

Supreme Court.

As a prosecutor and judge, she handled thousands of cases involving child sexual assault, human trafficking, domestic violence and civil commitments for sex offenders.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES NOTES

August 12th Meeting

By JOE DAILEY / Bulletin Co-Editor

- The Board passed unanimously the new "Policy for Photography and Videography During Worship Services." It supersedes the earlier wish that there be no photography at all during services, a wish that had been articulated by the Ritual Committee. (Please read the policy on this page.)
- CEEW Education Director Carrie Barbakoff reported that she and Joe Dailey (CEEW security subcommittee) learned from two Magen David Adom emergency medical technicians about dealing with mass casualty emergencies. She said that, once the harm has been done, the greatest threat to survivors is blood loss. Perhaps the single most important lesson was that speed, calm and even a relatively small bit of training can save lives in a bad situation, she said. Magen David Adom (MDA), Israel's national emergency medical organization, brought its extensive experience to Milwaukee to help congregations from a variety of religions.
- Carrie also reported that she and Cantor Martin were scheduled to meet with a candidate for one of the CEEW teaching positions.
- Our insurance company has paid $2,027 toward the replacement of the double-oven unit that had been lost to an electrical fire.
- Sisterhood has pledged a donation of $150 to support High Holiday security. Sisterhood will sponsor a food drive for the High Holidays.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES NOTES

July 8th Meeting

By JOE DAILEY / Bulletin Co-Editor

- Cantor Martin reported on the American Conference of Cantors (ACC) convention, which emphasized issues of social justice this year. She also reported on the finalizing of the conversions of Tom Braatz and Paula Duval, preparations for the High Holidays and preparations for the B'not Mitzvah of Avery Kukuk and Madie Baumann on July 21st.
- Treasurer Alan Meyers reported that the balance due on our mortgage (technically our business loan) is $58,692 at the time of our July Board meeting. He anticipated that we would meet with our bank in three weeks to sign papers for a new loan that would cost approximately 4.7 percent annually. He also reported that CEEW has signed the endowment paperwork with Milwaukee Jewish Federation.
- The Board passed a motion to accept the donation of security bollards to protect our building against vehicular attack. "We gratefully accept the donation from the (anonymous) angel," the Board noted.

PHOTOGRAPHY POLICY

The following "Policy for Photography and Videography During Worship Services" passed unanimously during the Board's August meeting.

Those wishing to take photos during a worship service must do so as unobtrusively as possible while remaining virtually invisible and inaudible.

Photographers may stand only in the back of the sanctuary or in the doorways. Those seated may take pictures only while remaining seated and without obstructing another person's view. At no time during the service may photos be taken from the bimah.

Videos taken during services must employ a stationary camera.

No supplemental light source, whether flash or other photographic lighting, may be used during a service.

During special events, bar / bat cycle events, photos may be taken from the bimah both before and after the service. At those times, additional lighting can be used.

Relaxed photography policies may be instituted during synagogue-wide special events and services with the agreement of the spiritual leader. (Adopted 8/12/19)

BOOK IDEAS: Bulletin co-editor Adrian Richfield recommends a website for Jewish books and Book Club ideas. Go to www.jewishbookcouncil.org/. Recently published was its annual Jewish Book Club selection guide that includes discussion questions to go along with each book.

BOOK CLUB REPORT / Adrian Richfield Reviews: The Poisonwood Bible

Family saga touches many subjects

Although not a recent publication, The Poisonwood Bible remains a remarkable book, not just because of its story of a fanatical evangelical Baptist pastor and his family, but because of the novel's characters and narrative form.

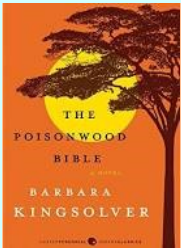

Barbara
KINGSOLVER

Five narrators address the reader; they are Oleanna Price, the minister's wife, and each of her four daughters.

The characters tell the story of their move in the 1950s from Georgia to a rural village in the Congo. The novel takes place just as the Congo begins its fight for independence from Belgium.

The daughters are the self-centered teenager Rachel, twins Leah and Adah and 5-year-old Ruth. Each must forge her own way and strike her own path in colonial Africa as their father tries with foolhardy actions to convert the Congolese to Christianity.

The reader never hears directly from the father, Nathan, but his sanctimonious behavior comes alive through the eyes of his daughters.

This compelling family saga touches on obedience, marriage, culture, colonialism and religion.

Barbara Kingsolver has written a powerful novel that pieces together a strange collection of characters who will engage today's readers.

Josh Elkin's opinion on anti-zionism published

By JOE DAILEY / Bulletin Co-Editor

One of our CEEW teens has published an opinion item in an online publication of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization. It explains his response to aspects of anti-zionism.

Josh Elkin wrote "Political Identity in the Face of Anti-Zionism and Anti-Semitism," which was first published in late May. Please see <https://azabbg.bbyo.org/post/political-identity-in-the-face-of-leftist-anti-zionism-and-anti-semitism> for the complete text.

Josh, who is the son of Irene and Robert Elkin, explained that, approximately in early 2018, he "truly began crafting" his own political beliefs. He learned about the political complexities of today's Israel. As he explored Israel-Palestine conflicts, he looked into relationships, territorial claims and why the struggles continue.

"We are all in the same fight against hate," he wrote, "no matter your stances on healthcare, who you voted for in the last election or how you remain civically engaged."

BBYO identifies itself as "the leading pluralistic Jewish teen movement aspiring to involve more Jewish teens in more meaningful Jewish experiences."

Condolences

Congregants and staff of Congregation Emanu-El of Waukesha extend their deepest condolences to:

- Mari-Claire Zimmerman, whose mother, Ann Raskin, died July 8th;
- Ann Klein, whose son, Jeff Haber, died July 20th;
- Alan Meyers, whose aunt, Ann Garber, died July 3rd;
- June Kulakow, whose cousin, Merry Atinsky, died July 8th.

May their memories be for a blessing.

Ann Raskin, who died at age 92, taught high school and junior high school level math and science for many years. She graduated from Milwaukee State Teachers College where she was "Honor 10" of her graduating class as well as in the National Honor Society.

She volunteered as a tutor in Milwaukee Public Schools, at the Milwaukee Jewish Food Pantry and Hadassah, where she was president of her chapter. Ann lived in Hawaii for a while, and Mari-Claire recalls her mother teaching her and her sister how to dance the hula in their living room.

Ann has been described as a strict but "awesome teacher," "a modern-day Miriam" and a cat lover. One Passover she saw her cat eating a piece of bread. "No, it's Pesach," Ann said, taking the bread from the cat and promptly being bitten by the cat.

A former student wrote: "I have thought about Mrs. Raskin many times over the years. She was my math teacher at Audubon Junior High 56+ years ago. I remembered her fondly and was grateful to have had her for a teacher. I thank you, her family, for sharing her with her students over the years."

* * *

Ann Klein spoke of her son Jeff's kindness.

"One cold day he was walking in downtown Waukesha and saw a man who didn't have a coat," Ann recalled. "So he took off his coat and gave it to him."

BERNIE SANDLER IS HH COORDINATOR: Bernie Sandler is our High Holidays Coordinator for the second consecutive year. His task is to keep track of the jobs other volunteers are doing rather than doing the jobs himself. The intent is to make sure everything gets done on time without conflicts.
